

ATHS Wolf Pack is back

Independent Newspapers/Scott Taylor
 Above, Head Coach Greg Garland works with a lineman. Top left, Assistant Head Coach John Anderson looks on as skills coach Max Schug explains technique to quarterbacks and centers. Bottom left, special-skills coach Jon Bohn, a member of the 2009 championship team, works with receivers. School Principal Giles Glithero assists in the drills.

Scott Taylor

Independent Newspapers

With the lightning and thunder of an approaching monsoon storm and under the lights at Prospector Park in Apache Junction, the Apache Trail High School Wolf Pack CAA Class B football team huddled around their coaches for a night practice last week.

The light sprinkle of rain only enhanced the determination of these young players and their coaches to refine and develop the work ethic and football skills they will need to attain their goal of a championship season.

They were the 2009 CAA Champs. The Wolfpack is on the hunt again.

The team's first game is Aug. 27 at Mesa Prep.

Editor's note: Advertising consultant Scott Taylor can be reached at staylor@newszap.com.